Noble Back To Face Charges

...Jailed Prior To Arraignment

By Walt Switzer
Harlan Lynn Noble, 47, sudden and unshaven but otherwise well appearing, was hastily booked by Lincoln Police and placed in a second floor cell at 11:15 p.m. Friday.

He is charged with the Aug. 1 attack on Theresa Dowling who has identified him through pictures as her attacker.

Noble, who was returned to Lincoln by Police Lt. Robert Sawdon and Dep. Sheriff Del Ziemann, was generally impassive as he was led up the corridor to the police station although he muttered softly at the attention given him by news photographers.

According to Police Chief Joe T. Carroll and County Sheriff Merle Karnopp, he will be held at the city jail until he is arraigned.

County Attorney Elmer Scheele said the accused sex criminal will probably be arraigned Monday and then placed in the State Penitentiary for safe keeping.

Noble, who was arrested by Milwaukee police last Saturday when he was recognized as the man who reportedly molested a Milwaukee boy Sept. 4, began his trip Friday to Lincoln after he waived extradition.

According to wire service reports, Noble had planned to fight extradition but when he appeared with his court appointed attorney Bernard Freudenfeld of Milwaukee, Freudenfeld told District Judge Robert Hansen that Noble wished to waive extradition.

Mitchell Uses Labor Law:

Orders Hoffa To Oust Cons

... TEAMSTER HEAD GIVEN 10 DAYS

San Francisco (P)—Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell disclosed Friday he has directed Teamster President James R. Hoffa to report in 10 days what steps he has taken to remove from office Teamster officials having criminal records.

Mitchell said in a speech to the AFL-CIO convention he has sent similar messages to individual officials of other labor unions. He did not name them.

The secretary said he was acting under a provision of the new labor control law passed by Congress and signed by President Eisenhower this week. It bars from service as a union official anyone convicted of certain crimes or having been a Communist Party member for five years after such conviction or membership.

A number of Teamsters Union officials have been disclosed in Senate Rackets Committee testimony as having criminal records.

Mitchell said that the Labor Department and the Department of Justice already are ment of Justice already are busy at steps to make sure the provision is swiftly enforced.

"I have made a special point of calling the attention of Hoffa to this point," Mitchell said. "I sent him a telegram to that effect only this morning."

"My message to him concludes with this: 'You will advise me within 10 days whether any Teamster official has been a member of the Communist party or convicted of crime during the past five years.'"

No 'Witch Hunt'

Mitchell said only a few unions have been involved in corruption disclosures. He said he does not intend to use new union policing powers vested in him to conduct any "witch hunt" among honest unions. But he said he had a large and grave responsibility which he intends to exercise.

Something in Common... The Nebraska and Texas football teams will have something in common today when they meet at Memorial Stadium. Nebraska Coach Bill Jennings coached Texas Coach Darrell Royal when the latter was an Oklahoma All American; Husker Center Darrell Cooper is a native of Ft. Worth, Tex., and overlooking the entire picture is Dana X. Bible, who coached Nebraska to gridiron prominence before moving to Texas where he performed similar service. Bible, now athletic director emeritus of Texas, will be honored at halftime today.

Texas Tests NU's High Hopes

...HUSKERS 2-3 TD UNDERDOGS; CLOUDY SKIES FORECAST

By Don Bryant
Nebraska football fans today will put briefly aside thoughts of Mr. K's visit, the struggle in Laos, the high price of groceries, and all the other routine worries.

This is the day they've been waiting for—the opening of the 1959 season and the unveiling of the most talked-about Cornhusker team in years.

At 2 p.m., Coach Bill Jennings—starting his 3rd season at the NU helm—will send his Huskers against a magnificent University of Texas team, coached by his former pupil, Darrell Royal.

One thing hasn't changed in a year. Nebraska is a two-to-three touchdown underdog against the Longhorns, just about the same spread the Huskers had against them last fall when Penn State came to town.

35,000 Expected
Nebraska surprised the Nittany Lions 14-7 that day, and some 35,000 fans are expected to be on hand at Memorial Stadium today to see if the Scarlets can again conjure a national stunner.

Several things are different, however. Jennings this year has 58 players to call on instead of 39, and there's no denying the improvement of the Huskers. Texas, too, is a much better club than the 1958 edition that dumped Oklahoma en route to a 7-3 campaign.

Both teams have the majority of last year's personnel available, and both have received excellent help from fine freshmen teams.

Jennings will assign the chore of bull-dogging the Longhorns to a "22-man first team, with a 3rd unit in reserve."

Kramer Key Man
Key man in the NU attack is Quarterback Tom Kramer, highly-regarded transfer from California who has the tools to fuel the Husker attack better than any other individual since Fran Nagle.

Operating in the No. 1 backfield will be veteran halfbacks Pat Fischer and Carroll Zaruba and Fullback Don Fricke, who last year drew

Up front will be a much larger and mobile line than the one that went against Penn State. And all are battle-tested vets. Max Martz and Roger Brede will be the ends; George Haney—who saw service at Georgia Tech before transferring here—will be the tackles; LeRoy Zentic and Don Olson, returning after a year's absence, will be the guards. Darrell Cooper, another transfer from Baylor, will man the center post.

Lettered Vets

The Husker alternates will be John Bond and Don Purcell, ends; Duane Mongerson and Al Wellman, tackles; John Ponceigo and Dick Kosier, guards; Jim Moore, center; Harry Tolly, quarterback; Dallas Dyer and Clay White, halfbacks; and Noel Martin, fullback. All but Purcell, Dyer and Martin are lettered veterans.

Royal's fast-stepping T offense will feature such notables as Quarterback Bobby Lackey and Halfback Rene Ramirez, with a wealth of seasoned linemen doing the hole-blasting for them.

While the damp weather continued Friday, the weatherman indicated the skies would be clearing by noon today. He sees a temperature in the upper 60's at game time.

Helping to open the 1959 season will be Dana Bible, former NU coach now athletic director emeritus at Texas. He'll be feted at halftime. Other Husker coaches on hand will be Fred Dawson, L. McC. (Biff) Jones and A. J. Lewandowski.

Nikita Vague On Controls

Each Nation Would Demobilize Completely Within 4 Years

By Douglas B. Cornell

United Nations, N.Y. (P)—Nikita S. Khrushchev proposed Friday that the world disarm itself completely within 4 years. His plan presented to the United Nations would do away with armies, navies, air forces, nuclear weapons, military rockets and leave only domestic police forces for keeping internal order.

U.S. REACTS: Will Study Nik's Plan With Care

In Hopes Some New Idea May Be There

Washington — Official Washington took the general position that Nikita S. Khrushchev's 4-year plan to disarm the world should be studied carefully, and with a sharp eye for the fine print.

It was widely noted that the Soviet premier was vague on the question of controls and inspection—regarded as critical by the West.

There was no immediate comment from President Eisenhower, spending the weekend at Gettysburg, Pa. The State Department stood on a statement issued in New York City by Secretary Christian A. Herter.

Herter said Khrushchev's proposal requires very careful examination, adding that it seems to repeat total disarmament proposals made by the Soviet Union previously.

Among members of Congress still in the city, the consensus seemed to be that the plan should be given serious study.

An Old Proverb

United Nations, N.Y. (P)—A Latin American diplomat, who declined use of his name, offered this proverb when asked his comment on Soviet Premier Khrushchev's speech:

"In my country we have an old saying: 'When the burros are fighting, the chickens don't mix in.'" serious, cautious study. Several took a line similar to that voiced by Herter—that the emphasis must be on controlled disarmament. The issue of inspection has deadlocked East-West negotiations aimed at limited disarmament for many years.

Talk Anything

Eisenhower had said previously this country is willing to talk about anything in the disarmament field. But he told a news conference any such plan must (1) be fair to both sides and (2) be self-enforcing so that everyone knows the plan is being observed.

The full text of Khrushchev's U.N. speech was being rushed to the President at Gettysburg. He and Khrushchev will get down to serious talks at Camp David, the President's Maryland Mountain retreat about 25 miles from Gettysburg next week.

The proposal contained catches and gimmicks the Western allies may be unable to accept. The Soviet premier recognized this tactic. Accordingly, he laid down a program for partial disarmament as a temporary measure.

But he said that complete and general disarmament, by treaty and under strict international control, is the "lever by grasping which mankind could be stopped from backsliding into the abyss of war."

Complete Demobilizing

"The essence of our proposals," Khrushchev said, "is that over a period of 4 years all states should effect complete disarmament and should no longer have any means of waging war."

The world's No. 1 Communist was vague, however, about controls and inspection—a topic on which the West is touchy and, on the basis of past negotiations, suspicious of the Soviets. Violations of the projected disarmament treaty would be subject to "immediate consideration" by the U.N. Security Council and General Assembly. And Russia has a veto in the Council.

Khrushchev had promised a new disarmament plan in his speech to the General Assembly. And he unfolded it dramatically, in a long address filled with his customary words on peace and friendship and in a memorandum distributed to delegates of the world organization.

Scant Applause

The premier managed to stir applause only once during his 65-minute speech. That came from Soviet bloc countries when he plugged for admission of Red China to U.N. membership. The corpse of Nationalist China the premier said, should be carried out.

Western delegates took the speech to be something of a propaganda stroke, promising pie in the sky with no real hopes of getting it.

"Alice in wonderland," one Western diplomat commented.

"The Messiah has come," said another.

And from a prominent Asian:

"It sounds so easy... I think they must take us for morons."

U.S. Secretary of State Christian A. Herter pronounced no hasty judgment. He told a reporter the Khrushchev plan is something to be studied, in the new 10-nation disarmament committee slated to assemble early next year in Geneva.

"Propaganda, but moderate," was the way Netherlands Foreign Minister J. M. A. H. Luns sized up the Soviet proposal. "Impossible to realize. The alternative proposals are what the Soviets have always asked for."

Vanguard III Expected To Stay Up 30-40 Years

U.S. HAS 8 IN ORBIT

Washington (P) — America's 100-pound Vanguard III whizzed about the earth Friday on a mission that might help plot a safe path for future space voyagers.

The satellite, shaped like a big ice cream cone, was launched early Friday morning from Cape Canaveral, Fla., and promptly began sending back loud and clear radio signals packed with information.

With luck it might get some extra information from a total eclipse of the sun on Oct. 2.

Its expected lifetime aloft is estimated at 30 years, and its radio equipment should operate for about 3 months.

The successful launching gave a lift to sagging U.S. prestige in space exploration. It also marked a cheerful end for the ill-starred series of Vanguard rockets, most of which flopped.

Whizzing through space at speeds up to 18,567 miles an hour, at altitudes ranging from 319 to 2,329 miles above the earth, the new satellite was only the third put up in 11 tries by Vanguard scientists.

But it brought to 8 the number of American satellites now orbiting the earth, not to mention the Pioneer IV space probe which is wheeling, perhaps eternally, around the sun.

The Vanguard success came at the end of a rather cloudy week for American space prestige. It was a week that opened with the Russian moon-strike. Then came two successive U.S. space failures.

The satellite was sent aloft at 12:20 a.m. (EST) by a 72-foot-long Vanguard rocket weighing 22,600 pounds and having a thrust of about 28,000 pounds at sea level.

Two hours and 50 minutes later, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration announced the satellite was in orbit. It consists of a 50-pound instrument-filled payload and the attached 50-pound spent third stage of the launching rocket.

NU Building Committee Is Reorganized

The University of Nebraska Regents revamped the structure of the institution's building committee Friday to better suit it for work with the new division of the state institution construction funds ordered by the 1959 Legislature.

In effect, the new committee organization decentralizes planning and authority in an effort to give balanced attention to building plans at the College of Medicine, The University's Lincoln city campus, and the College of Agriculture and the agricultural experiment stations.

The regents' action divided the committee into 3 sections with the following service on each: Dean A. C. Breckenridge, chairman; Graduate Dean John C. Weaver; Verner Meyers, director of planning and construction; Linus Burr Smith, professor of architecture, and Business Manager Carl A. Donaldson.

Under the new legislative allocation of building funds resulting from a 1.1 mill levy, the University will receive 31% and agricultural experiment stations 20%.

The College of Medicine receives its building funds from a special quarter-mill levy.

The Board also accepted the $76,591 low bid submitted by Servco Company of St. Louis for the food-service equipment in the Nebraska Center for Continuing Education.

NU Drs. Thorpe, Meierhenry Appointed Assistant Deans ... OF UNIVERSITY TEACHERS COLLEGE

The appointment of two assistants to the dean of Teachers College were approved Friday evening by the University of Nebraska Board of Regents.

They are two long-time members of the College: Dr. Norman F. Thorpe, associate professor of secondary education and principal of University High School, and Dr. Wesley C. Meierhenry, professor of school administration and history and co-ordinator of Teacher Placement.

In addition to his present duties, Dr. Thorpe, as assistant to the dean, will be in charge of admissions and certification and director of teacher training.

Dr. Meierhenry will be in charge of the advanced professional division and the teacher placement division.

The Board also named Allen H. Bennett as managing director of the Nebraska Union in place of Duane Lake, who resigned. Mr. Bennett has served as assistant managing director since 1955.

Also, two visiting professors were named to the staff: Mrs. Grace Newell Cromwell of Lincoln, as visiting professor in speech and dramatic art, and Trevor Evans, chairman of mathematics at Emory University, as visiting professor of mathematics and astronomy.

Among the resignations accepted was that of Dr. Jackson A. Smith, professor of neurology and psychiatry and associate director of research at the Nebraska Psychiatric Institute.

The Board approved the transfer of Miss Marjorie Johnston, associate dean of student affairs, to the position of college counselor in the correspondence section of the Extension Division.

The Board also appointed: R. June Erickson, assistant professor of home economics, from Indiana University; Kenneth L. Fitch, assistant professor of anatomy, from University of Missouri; Robert W. Filbeck, assistant professor of educational psychology and measurements, from Central Missouri State College, Warrensburg, Mo.; Dwane R. Zimmerman, assistant professor of animal husbandry, from University of Wisconsin; James T. Horner, assistant professor of vocational education, from University of North Carolina; Jacques G. Benay, assistant professor of Romance Languages, from Brown University; and Robert G. Combs, assistant professor of electrical engineering, from North Carolina State College.

SENATORS EYE VOTER REGISTRATION CHANGE

The possibility of changing Nebraska's voter registration law to make it cover all electors, or repealing it completely, will be included in a Legislative Council committee's study of election laws.

The Election Laws Study Committee, under the chairmanship of Sen. Marvin Lautenschlager of Grand Island, held its organizational meeting in Lincoln Friday.

Sen. Terry Carpenter of Scottsbluff, a committee member, noted that Nebraska law now requires voter registration in those communities of 7,000 or more population.

He suggested that the committee study uniformity in registration and determine whether it would be better to require it throughout the state, or not require it anywhere.

Recount

The committee's study also will embrace suggested changes in the laws to avoid the "confusion" which resulted from last year's gubernatorial election and resulting recount.

Another committee member, Sen. George Fulton of Beatrice, noted that he had been through a recount (which resulted in his unseating Sen. Willard Waldo of DeWitt) and commented, "I don't ever want to go through another one."

Election laws governing ballot counting will get thorough scrutiny from the committee, it was determined, including the possibility of limiting the hours counters and judges work, and a study of election

NU TV Station May Soon Get $50,000 Recorder

The University of Nebraska Board of Regents took steps Friday to accept a $50,000 videotape recorder for use by the University's educational television station, KUON-TV.

The recorder, plus $10,000 in videotape, is being offered to member stations in the National Educational Television network under the terms of a $2,706,000 grant from the Ford Foundation.

Jack McBride, director of KUON-TV, said the recorder, an electronic machine, will use magnetic tape to record complete television programs — both picture and sound. The recorder will allow for immediate playback of programs without the lengthy photographic development process required for films and kinescopes, he explained.

man who began their 14-hour journey at 9 a.m. Lincoln time.

Lt. Sawdon said that although Noble remained sulen and reserved throughout the trip he talked willingly with the lawmen. He gave no indication of what may have been disclosed in his talks with the prisoner.

Also returned to Lincoln with the 47-year-old were two black suitcases (one large and one small) which were in his possession at the time of his arrest in Milwaukee.

While being booked and searched by Police Lt. Bob Myers and jailer Larry Kellison, the escapee from a Larned, Kan. hospital for the criminally insane, turned his back on newsmen and repeatedly covered his face with his hand in a nervous manner.

He was wearing a tan hat shoved down over his forehead, a short jacket, and a green shirt and pants.

Handcuffed

Handcuffs and chains, which had bound Noble throughout his trip, were removed after he had been hustled up to his cell and searched again.

Chief Carroll and other police officers in the station were visibly relieved when Noble was safely locked in his cell.

A widespread manhunt after the attack on the Dowding girl was carried out by police in Nebraska, Kansas, Iowa, South Dakota and Wisconsin. Noble was identified through photographs as the attempted attacker of a child in Atchison, Kan. a week after the Lincoln attack.

Noble had been placed in the Larned Hospital after being sentenced to 62 years for a sex offense against a Leavenworth, Kan., child. He escaped from the hospital June 3.

Student Union Now Officially 'Nebraska Union'

Regents at the University of Nebraska formally changed the name of the student union center, 14th and R, to the Nebraska Union, but not without a hassle.

Regent Frank Foote of Atchison spoke out for a student vote on selecting the name of the newly-enlarged student center pointing out that "the students are paying for it."

But the majority opinion prevailed that the students, through their representatives on the Union Board of Managers, had picked the Nebraska Union name.

"What's the difference?" one regent commented. "They'll call it the Student Union no matter how we vote."

Regents Honor Dr. C. Sanders

A tribute to the late Dr. Chris Sanders, University of Nebraska extension associate and agricultural representative for the Cooper Foundation, was approved by the NU Board of Regents Friday.

The Regents' resolution praised the work of the 45-year-old man as "a leader of youth and an outstanding citizen." Dr. Sanders had been with the University from 1946 until his death, Sept. 4.

Union And Council Spokesmen Join In Denying Feaster Pressure Charges

By Virgil Falloon
Fire Chief Paul Feaster's charges that "pressure" by the firemen's union on the City Council figured in his resignation were emphatically denied Friday by a union spokesman and Council members.

Feaster, who quit last week after 17 years as chief, asserted that the Council refused to increase his salary because of union pressure.

"I wasn't in a position to fight the Council and all of the men on the fire department," said Feaster in a plea last week for an investigation by an outside, unbiased group.

Temporary Chairman
In this connection Friday, R. H. Walter of 1849 Garfield announced he would serve as temporary chairman of "Situation Fire Chief."

"Establishment of a fact-finding group will be the first consideration," he said. "If sufficient information is obtained, permission will be requested to present facts, witnesses and recommendations to the City Council."

Feaster confirmed that Walters had contacted him, but said: "Anything he (Walters) does is on his own. I have not authorized him to do anything. I'm not fighting anybody."

Pressure Denied
Meanwhile, Fireman Melvin Keller, president of Local 644, AFL-CIO, Lincoln Association of Fire Fighters said "no pressure of any kind has been exerted" in answer to Feaster's charges.

Keller said the union has taken no position, nor will it do so, in either the resignation of Chief Feaster or the naming of a new chief by the City Council.

Mayor Pat Boyles said "no union pressure" was exerted on the Council or himself in the decision not to grant the fire chief a $50 a month raise given Police Chief Carroll.

Other Council members, Del Tyrrell, Kenneth Lewis, Hugh Thorne and Mrs. Helen Boosalis, similarly stated no union influence or pressure was exerted.

Opposed Increases
Lewis also noted he opposed the $50 increase for the police chief because he felt the chiefs should not get raises the men did not.

Mrs. Boosalis said that Feaster's resignation was his own decision.

There is no indication that the Council will take any steps to name a committee to investigate Feaster's charges.

One member said that the Council has received no communication from Feaster since his resignation. "All I've seen is what Feaster has said to the newspapers," he noted.

Estate Taxes Yield $636.45

Inheritances taxes totalling $636.45 were levied in County Court on the $147,959 estate of the late Dr. Harvey B. Stapleton of Hickman.

Dr. Stapleton died Oct. 1, 1958.

Judge Herbert A. Ronin ruled that a $507.70 tax was due on Dr. Stapleton's holdings in Lancaster County, and ordered taxes of $30.23 paid in Johnson County and $98.52 paid in Gage County on holdings there.

Guard Units Will Help Watch Nik On Visit To Iowa

Des Moines, Iowa (UPI)—Gov. Herschel C. Loveless ordered units of the National Guard to help protect Soviet Premier Nikita S. Khrushchev in Iowa next week.

Loveless called out 700 to 800 Army Guardsmen at the urging of the State Department.

Most of the troops will be concentrated in the Coon Rapids area, 80 miles northwest of Des Moines, where Khrushchev will pay a visit to farmer Roswell Garst.

Loveless said he did not believe any threats on Khrushchev's life led the State Department to ask for the Guardsmen.

Minority Housing Decision

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

There has now been submitted what everyone should hope is the last survey of minority housing in Lincoln that will be made for quite some time. The report presents just about the kind of picture that has been suspected—a substantial amount of discrimination in housing for non-whites and other problems such as overcrowding, unsanitary conditions, poor maintenance, lack of financial ability, etc.

The next question to be answered is what decision will be made after study of the report is concluded. It is encouraging to see that the Mayor's Council on Human Relations will do more than merely hand the survey over to the City Council. The Council's minority housing committee will analyze the survey and formulate possible recommendations to the City Council. It would have been unfortunate and a serious waste of time, money and talents if the Mayor's Council had followed the advice of its chairman and let the survey stand without comment.

The Mayor's Council is composed of people who have a good knowledge of the minority housing problems in Lincoln and their advice will be valued by the City Council. When they have completed their task, the final answer will be up to the City Council. There will be no easy solution. As the survey shows, the biggest problem is simply segregation and no one yet has found a non-controversial answer to this.

There are several approaches open. It would seem that the fundamental question is which road the city wants to take to solve this problem. It certainly can be concluded that many of the non-whites in Lincoln want better housing but cannot find it.

Many of those who want it can afford it but nothing is available to them. One thing which must be determined is what these people would accept. Are they interested primarily in improved housing or in desegregation? The answer to this question will provide the key for future action. If improved housing is the only goal, then the solution to the problem will be found comparatively easy. It will take work and imagination but housing can be provided in Lincoln for minority groups who can afford it if desegregation is not an objective.

Actually Gone Backward

The Office of Education of the Federal Department of Health, Education and Welfare has announced that $307,317 will be made available to Nebraska for educational loans to young people.

Any constructive action aimed at strengthening the American position through increasing knowhow is well received. But a grant of some $300,000 for a state of some million and a half people provides a yardstick by which the paucity of the national educational effort can be measured.

It should remind that the effort toward greater and more widespread education has actually retreated. Today's loans are pocket money in comparison with the outright grant of educational funds to the war generation benefitted by the G.I. bill of rights.

Age Of Euphemism

Apparently we have emerged from the age of realism when a spade was a spade and conjured accurate thoughts about spade-work.

Take barbering, for instance. In the long ago well fed, civilized people kept their hair under control, but the hungry, wild fellow from across the river let his grow. Hence he was a bearded man, a barbarian and a dreadful fellow to be reckoned with. So the barber was a fellow who made hay with beards.

Now according to the Christian Science Monitor we have entered the age of euphemism. A spade is no longer a spade by a technological instrument for displacing earth.

The Monitor points out that English ratcatchers are now rodent operatives, garbage men, refuse collectors, and a night watchman is a noctician.

It goes on to say:

Editorial Of The Day

Suspend Demand-Supply?

From The New York Times

Two pieces that appeared in the financial pages over the week-end, when considered together, point up the weakness of the widely heard charge that the Federal Reserve Board is the villain behind the recent general rise in interest rates.

One of these stories was a report from Washington on the change in the wholesale price index for August. While the over-all change was a net decline of 0.3 point, an analysis shows that the total figure was more than accounted for by price changes in two of the components of the index—farm prices and processed food. But in a period of boom recovery it is to the third category of items to which one looks for evidence of incipient inflation in the price system. If two of the three categories average declines of 1.6 points, then the residual element here, industrial prices, would seem to have actually risen. That would be in keeping with the trend that has been under way for a year now. Wholesale industrial prices had crept up, between June, 1958, through July, 1959, by 3.1 points.

Now the cost of interest is a price, just as are the industrial items in the wholesale price index. Like the price of any of these items it is affected by the law of supply and demand.

Since mid-year, business loans by member banks of the Federal Reserve System reporting weekly have risen $500 million compared with a decline of $209 million in the same period last year, when the economy was only beginning to emerge from the 1957-58 recession. Textile, apparel and leather companies have increased their borrowings $152 million, against a decrease of $12 million in the 1958 period; public utility and transportation companies have increased their borrowings $80 million against a drop of $122 million; and even metal companies, affected by the strikes, have cut their borrowings only $40 million, against a reduction of $376 million last year. The rising demand for business loans has been paralleled by increasing demand for consumer loans and mortgages.

Now, it is true that, if it were simply a matter of reducing interest rates, the Federal Reserve could undoubtedly reduce the pressure if it felt it was desirable to do so. But to argue for such a course is to argue that if it becomes an inconvenience to borrowers the monetary authorities should suspend the law of demand and supply. This would mean that it would be transferring the pressure to prices, which would effect every person in the country and which would be inescapable.

It would be hard to believe that Lincoln builders would refuse to build and lending agencies refuse to advance loans if there were no issue of segregation involved. But to accomplish this, the housing which is provided would have to be in an area which would not provoke the segregation issue. Since there is not now room in the dominantly non-white areas for new construction, this housing would have to be provided in another isolated area.

It would not have to be a segregated area within itself but only insofar as current surroundings are concerned. In other words, whites and non-whites could be permitted in it so long as there was no conflict between these two groups to begin with. There is no question that this kind of approach has some advantages.

It does ease the housing pinch for minority groups. It helps to eliminate oppressive landlord practices of greed by removing the essential element of high demand. Oppressive rental practices decline in proportion to demand for quarters. Of course, such housing is no answer at all to those who make desegregation the first consideration.

For these, the ultimate answer is every house in every area of Lincoln open to purchase by anyone with the required financial ability, regardless of race, creed or color. This is an entirely different kind of problem and one which is not approached without great controversy. It can be said with certainty that this kind of a solution would be much more long-range than the other. It is up to city officials to judge the temper, needs and feelings of the people and determine the kind of approach that will be used to eliminate the objectionable housing conditions found in the survey.

Until this decision is made, it will be impossible to map out a program of action. There are significant moral questions involved in this decision as well as hard and cold practical facts. While neither the moral nor practical aspects may be handled to the satisfaction of all concerned, it would be an even more disgraceful thing if the whole issue were purposely buried in administrative and legislative lethargy.

"Mrs. Xopit, I'm Afraid I Have Some Bad News For You"

Mr. K First Red To Talk With U.S. Labor

WASHINGTON—The public knows that Nikita Khrushchev of Russia is sitting down in the Mark Hopkins Hotel in San Francisco tomorrow to be cross-examined by a group of AFL-CIO leaders. But the public doesn't know what happened behind the scenes before this meeting was arranged.

When James Cary, president of the United Electrical Workers, arrived at Unity House, Pa., for the recent AFL-CIO executive council meeting, he had no sooner stepped inside the door than he was paged. It was Ambassador Menshikov in Washington calling.

"It is important," he said, "that Khrushchev get the views of American labor leaders. We will agree to such a conference."

Cary went into the dining room, sat down at the most important table, No. 8, called the "Captain's Table," usually occupied by David Dubinsky, head of the International Ladies Garment Workers which owns Unity House. On this occasion it was occupied by President George Meany and Jay Lovestone, the reformed Communist who is Meany's anti-Communist adviser. Meany didn't look too hospitable as Cary sat down. He had heard him paged by the Russian ambassador.

"George, I was paged on my arrival here by Ambassador Menshikov," said Cary, "and he has agreed to a meeting between labor and Khrushchev. Khrushchev has a very tight schedule but he will agree to meet with us in San Francisco. I wanted to know what are the wishes of labor."

"Jim," replied Meany, "you delivered the message and you know how I feel."

"That I do," replied Cary.

Jay Lovestone remarked that he would like to tell Khrushchev a thing or two, to his face.

"I don't think Khrushchev knows of your existence," replied Cary, "but I'll try to arrange it—with Meany's permission. Suppose we put you both on television and give you 20 minutes and Khrushchev 20 minutes."

"I'll take ten," snapped Lovestone.

Later, at the closed-door AFL-CIO Executive Council meeting, Meany expressed his blunt disapproval of any labor conference with Khrushchev. Obviously Meany hadn't realized the amazing changes that must have taken place inside Russia when its No. 1 man was not only willing to face a battery of press club questions but sit down with blunt-talking American labor leaders who have taken the lead in opposing Communism. This would never have happened under Stalin, nor under Malenkov, his successor, nor with Foreign Minister Molotov. They did not tolerate debate or disagreement.

Khrushchev Is Getting It Said

NEW YORK — The desperate hours of Nikita S. Khrushchev's American journey are transpiring here. Physically at least, they are being safely negotiated behind a long blue line of "the finest"—New York's police who are trained to handle the vast, diverse and emotional crowds.

Behind that shield Khrushchev is bouncing around—a one-man rocket, distinctively Communist but always a great show. Behind that shield, too, his official chaperon, U.N. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge, has begun to challenge him. An immense press corps sifts and winnows the news harvest, always with one eye cocked on what might happen next.

Under the spell of President Eisenhower's personality and the dominance of the presidency, Washington presented an orderly and reserved aspect. New York tensions seem under control, but one man or group of men can set this city's tone.

New York is the spiritual home of the American Communist party and it is the center of opposition to that alien ideology.

It would be idle to deny that today the Ukrainian coal miner's son with all his explosive force dominates the scene. No political figure exists here to oppose him effectively and answer him with an equal mixture of show-stopping guile. But no one can say either, until after he has left the scene, that the emotions of the people have been contained. They are certainly not concealed from him; he is far too much the politician not to sense public opinion and crowd psychology. He has shown too a great pride of place for himself and his country; if the joke is on them, he intends to be the one to make it. His touchiness is instant and obvious.

These are among the hazards of a creative city contained in a journey aimed at relaxing tensions. They are the unknown quantity in an equation which is rapidly becoming familiar—the effort of the Soviet premier to balance America's devotion to its own way by enacting only the role of a champion of his own side, equally sporting and devoted. The devotion plainly exists; the sportsmanship is as clearly absent.

Ambassador Lodge has "talked back" at the Mayor's luncheon for the Russian guest. As political dialogue, it was effective. It has still to be proved that such public debate serves the purpose of this exchange of visits.

Khrushchev has still to offer something really new, though he hinted he might at the United Nations. Nor will true negotiations on points at issue begin until he returns to Washington.

But it is well to remember that the Soviet premier got what he most wanted when he received his invitation to visit this country. It is recognition of the Soviet Union as a world power with whom that other world power, the United States, must deal face-to-face.

A THOUGHT FOR THE SABBATH

Stories Of Famous Hymns

O Love, That Wilt Not Let Me Go

O Love, that wilt not let me go,
I rest my weary soul in thee;
I give thee back the life I owe,
That in thine ocean depths its flow
May richer, fuller be.

O Light, that follow'st all my way,
I yield my flick'ring torch to thee;
My heart restores its borrowed ray,
That in thy sunshine's blaze its day
May brighter, fairer be.

O Joy, that seekest me thro' pain,
I cannot close my heart to thee;
I trace the rainbow thro' the rain,
And feel the promise is not vain
That morn shall tearless be.

O Cross, that liftest up my head,
I dare not ask to fly from thee;
I lay in dust life's glory dead,
And from the ground there blossoms red
Life that shall endless be.

By HORACE B. POWELL

Dr. George Mattheson—had he been spared the affliction of blindness—probably would never have written his beautiful devotional hymn, "O Love That Wilt Not Let Me Go." The hymn was born one night while the preacher-poet was brooding over some secret sorrow which he never revealed, even to his closest friends.

Born in Glasgow in 1842, Dr. Mattheson enjoyed partial vision until he was about 15. But soon after enrolling at Glasgow University in 1857 he became completely blind. Loss of sight, however, did not halt his studies and when his college days came to an end in 1861 he was graduated with high honors.

There were four more years of study in a theological seminary, then he was ready for his famous 18-year pastorate at Inellan, a seaport resort in Scotland, where many vacationists flocked each season to hear his sermons.

BOB CONSIDINE

Immediate Value In Being Ourselves

NEW YORK — It's not unrealistic to speculate on what might happen to the world if somebody is daffy enough to shoot Khrushchev while he is in this country.

Short of an immediate all-out atomic war, pitting Russian rocketry against our manned bombers and their huge submarine fleet against our shipping and coastal cities and defenses, this might very well occur:

—Messages of condolence from the White House to let's say, "President" Vorshilov would go unanswered because the Kremlin would be rattling with a tremendous power struggle, out of which could conceivably emerge a much less conciliatory man than Khrushchev. They've got some over there, hard as it might be to believe.

—There would be an instantaneous clanking down of the Iron Curtain, through which Russia and the satellites are now timidly peering. Cultural exchanges, travel and aid to Poland would be stopped.

—The nervous Nellies in NATO would state that they wanted no part of any such argument, and seek neutrality.

—If even a flesh-wound shooting was done by one who claimed to represent a government in exile, refugee, or religious group, that organization would suffer a wave of indignation and a rousing vote of no-confidence from millions of Americans previously sympathetic to its plight.

—There would be a huge expansion of the armed services, by conscription, a return of rationing of consumer goods, a frantic effort to decentralize populations and industry, strict governmental control of everything from plutonium to the press.

If there were war, of course, the human race would suffer the vast calamity in its history. Neither great power is prepared to hide its people or its power to wage "massive retaliation," or protect its friends whose lands lie between. It could not be a war with even a trace of chivalry, the neighborliness of adjoining trenches and fox-holes, or a war in which a bombardier could later write that he felt sorry he had goofed on his Norden Bombsight calculations and hit the orphanage or the cathedral. It couldn't even be a war in which men were brainwashed into confessing to crimes they had never heard of, such as waging germ warfare.

Any war emerging from an assassination of the visitor, no matter what you might think of him and the system he heads, would be bound to be the first truly impersonal conflict. It would be a war of statistics: so many cities, so many industrial complexes, so many people eliminated—at ranges sometimes beyond 5,000 miles, well beyond the sight, sound and smell of the protagonist. Red China would wind up ruler of the earth and enslave all survivors.

It seems to me that the best way to conduct ourselves while Khrushchev is in our country is to be ourselves. Lord knows we're not perfect. We have racial, fiscal, natural and family problems. We spend too much, eat too much, drink too much; don't read enough, don't sleep enough, don't think enough, don't appreciate enough.

But we came from hunger to greatness, from a debased colony to the inspiration of free men everywhere. We are now 50 nations linked together, some of them individually bigger and more powerful — spiritually and economically — than some of our top allies overseas. We can fight like cat and dog, politically, then close ranks solemnly and present a solid countenance to the world, the countenance of James Montgomery Flagg's Uncle Sam. We are the greatest humanitarian force in the history of man, and have become mature enough not to expect, or want, unctuous thanks from our beneficiaries. We go our way. We like that way, generally, but those who don't like it can say so out loud without fear of arrest. These are the things the picket with his sign should not obscure nor the wanton assassin destroy.

Feaster Resigns

Lincoln, Neb. It seems to me that in a city of our size, it is a shame that our City Council and mayor would be responsible for causing the resignation of one of our most able department heads. I am wondering if most of that body has served long enough to rightfully judge a man who has served us as he had for 43 years. He has saved us thousands of dollars and built up one of the most efficient fire departments in the country—our rating proves this. Not only that, but Chief Feaster is known and recognized all over the country through the fire conventions, both large and small, for his knowledge of every minute detail that goes to make up the outstanding fire department which the city of Lincoln now has.

I would suggest that a committee of citizens be appointed to find out the cause of the chief's resignation and all the particulars, to protect the people of the city of Lincoln from these existing conditions.

Future Of Cattle Prices Brings Warnings

Omaha (AP)—Expressions of caution marked a meeting of bankers here on the future of cattle prices.

Speakers generally agreed that the prospect of a record corn crop and the fact that cattle numbers are at an all-time high mean feeders should view the future with caution.

Julius Rohwer, president of a bank at Schleswig, Ia., said "I believe fat cattle prices may drop 10 to 15% in 10 months in 1960 — cheap feed always means cheap livestock prices."

"The cattle feeder shouldn't be optimistic. There are dark spots on the profit horizon," John H. Litzelman, president of the Corn Belt Livestock Feeders Assn. and a feeder and rancher at Vermillion, S.D., remarked.

Robert Koch of the University of Nebraska, took a different slant, saying there is a feeling of optimism among ranchers in Nebraska about feeder cattle prices because of the corn prospect and fair to good range conditions.

He said "ranchers are not too eager to sell."

Bruce Russell, president of the Farmers National Co., Omaha, said another reason for caution is the hog picture.

"The price of pork and poultry will have a marked effect on beef. We have the hogs. And farmers are going to continue to produce more as long as they can get $12 for them," he said.

Lincolnite Unofficially U.S. No. 1 Hog Raiser

... Almost Sweeps National Barrow Show

Austin, Minn. (AP) — A 36-year-old Nebraska farmer Friday climaxed a near sweep of the National Barrow Show's top prizes by winning the grand championship with his 225-pound Hampshire Barrow.

By capturing 3 of the show's top 4 awards Everett Maahs of Lincoln become, unofficially, the nation's No. 1 hog raiser for 1959.

In sales and premiums it was worth in the neighborhood of $5,000 for Maahs, who is so busy he had to leave Wednesday night to look after his farm.

E. Maahs

Maahs' brother, Ivan, showed the winning Hampshire in his place. Earlier in the day, another of Maahs' Hampshires was judged winner of the carcass contest. Two days ago his champion Hampshire boar sold for $3,300.

Maahs' grand champion Barrow returned him more than $1,200 Friday. Patrick Cudahy Corp. of Wisconsin and Selection Inc. of Sandusky, Ohio, paid $3.75 a pound and Maahs' netted another $401 in premiums. The Nebraskan also scored with 3rd place in the finals.

Sole major honor that eluded him was the truck lot title, won by Anderson and Sons of Leland, Ill., who received $2,070 from Cudahy in the sale.

A University of Nebraska swine judging team placed 6th at the National Barrow Show.

Thomas Accepts Missouri Post

Scottsbluff, Neb. (AP) — Richard Thomas, 29, administrative assistant to the city manager, has resigned effective Oct. 15 to become city manager at Slater, Mo., a city of about 3,500.

A graduate of the University of Kansas, where he also earned a master's degree in public administration, Thomas came to Scottsbluff two years ago for a year of internship needed to complete work for his master's degree.

Despite Rain North Loup Popcorn Days Attract 3,000

North Loup, Neb. — Rainy, cool weather cut the size of the Popcorn Days crowd here to an estimated 3,000, about half the number of persons in past years on sunnier days.

But despite the smaller crowd, festivities went on as scheduled.

After munching the free hot popcorn, those attending used the empty sacks to indicate their preference among a long list of presidential possibilities.

Death Claims E. J. Wolbach

Grand Island, Neb. (AP) — Edwin J. Wolbach, chairman of the board of the First National Bank of Grand Island, died at his home Friday of a heart attack.

He would have been 82 on October 31. Wolbach was a member of central Nebraska's most prominent families. His

Mr. Wolbach father, Samuel N. Wolbach, came to Grand Island in 1874 to found the Wolbach Department store, which still is operating although no longer under family management.

The father also was one of the organizers of the First National Bank.

Edwin J. Wolbach was graduated from Harvard in 1899 and in 1909 was married to Jeannette Hinsinger of Glenwood, Ia. They would have celebrated their golden wedding anniversary Nov. 3.

Wolbach became president of the bank in 1933, following the death of his brother, Emil, and assumed chairmanship of the board several years ago, turning over the presidency to his son, S. N. Wolbach. His widow, his son and two grandchildren are his only immediate survivors.

Funeral services will be at 11 a.m. Monday in St. Stephen's Episcopal Church in Grand Island.

Bring on those Longhorns

Little Gridders Ready

Longhorns, beware! The Cornhuskers Mighty Six, sons of Nebraska football coaching staff members, are shaping up, and while you may not meet them today, the time will come —

These young future Husker football greats and their female cheering section, (the coaches' daughters) turned out for their first practice session at the stadium this week spurred on by head coach Bill Jennings' appeal for an all out effort by everyone.

Our scouts, on hand for the event, tell us that the little gridders' remarkable plays could easily baffle any team in the country. No "T" formations or lonely ends for these boys.

One of the most revolutionary ideas introduced in the game was that each player had his own football. This is a move guaranteed to confuse opponents. It was also noted that one of the troops, Jeff Braley, was utilized only in spectacular ground plays. The six-month-old, 16 pounder, though he can't walk as yet, has been termed the "creeping menace." Members of the squad include Skip Scarborough, Erik

Schmakel, Tommy Strasheim, Chuck Pearce, Mark and Jeff Braley. Statistics show that the age average for the Mighty Six is two years, with a weight average of 25 pounds. Now for a look at some action shots of the squad during workouts.

(1) Center Scarborough

looks for his teammates to come out of the huddle while the defensive linemen Pearce, Schmakel and J. Braley talk it up.

(2) Quarterback M. Braley starts a handoff and gets an assist from J. Braley who applies a block to middle guard Schmakel.

(3) Ace pass receiver Strasheim makes a finger-tip catch eluding three would be tacklers—Schmakel, Pearce and J. Braley. Inset shows "Little Little Monster" looking downfield for receivers before taking to the skyways again.

(4) Cheerleaders, Rosa Lee Scarborough and Robin Pearce, take a minute out for worried contemplation of the grid action.

(5) Gridders take advantage of a well-earned half-time break to review mistakes. Later they'll check the movies to learn what rough spots must be smoothed out before the next game.

(6) Intently following a play, Robin expresses mixed emotions.

SUBURBIA

PARK MANOR

Word comes from Capt. and Mrs. Chesley Lightfoot of the arrival of their son, Jeffrey Leighton. Jeff, who was born at Bryan Memorial Hospital on Tuesday, Sept. 8, has a brother, Craig, and sister, Gwen.

His paternal grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Lightfoot of Chula, Ga., and Mrs. J. M. Hutchinson of Omega, Ga., is the maternal grandmother.

Arriving in Park Manor next week will be Mr. and Mrs. Frank Adamson and their children, Julie and Roger, of Portsmouth, England. As you may remember, Mrs. Adamson and her children have been in the United States all summer visiting in Iowa with Mrs. Adamson's parents and in Lincoln with her brother-in-law and sister, Mr. and Mrs. Justin Tallman.

Mr. Adamson joined his family early in September, and this will be his first visit at the Tallman home. The Adamsons will return to England the middle of October.

Would like to extend a welcome this morning to Mr. and Mrs. Alfred O. Sasse who moved into their home in Park Manor last Tuesday. Mr. and Mrs. Sasse came to Lincoln from Columbus, and their new address is 1915 E. Manor Dr.

Younger members of the Sasse family include Sandra, Greg, Anita and Joann.

Hear that Capt. and Mrs. Joseph Cameron and their two sons left the suburb early this week to make their home in California.

A hostess on Wednesday, Sept. 23, will be Mrs. James Hacker who will entertain the eight members of their bridge club for their first get-together of the fall. The dessert luncheon and bridge will be held at the Hacker home.

PATRICIAN HEIGHTS

David Priess, son of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Priess, returned home last week from Phillips where he spent the summer with his uncle and aunt, Mr. and Mrs. Ted Priess.

at the LAFB Officers Club. In charge of arrangements for the evening is Mrs. George Underwood.

Betrothal

MISS NANCY KATHERINE HALLAM

Late week has been an exciting one in betrothal news. Yesterday we had an announcement of the December wedding plans of former Nebraska coed, Miss Sandra Boyd and Robert Ireland. And today another popular bride-elect takes the spotlight.

This morning Mr. and Mrs. Oliver Warren Hallam make announcement of the engagement and approaching marriage of their daughter, Nancy Katherine, to Lyle Richard Burk, son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo G. Burk.

The wedding is planned for Friday, Dec. 18.

Miss Hallam is a graduate of the University of Nebraska where she is a member of Alpha Phi sorority. Her fiancé is a former student at Nebraska.

DEAR ABBY

Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: My son is 15. My neighbors have complained that he and his pals have been shooting at robins' nests with their BB gun. He bought it with money saved from his allowance, so I can't take the gun away from him.

The neighbors say that my son killed a few baby robins. But what are a few baby robins compared with a son's love for his mother? I don't want to risk losing my son's love by doing anything that might turn him against me. And I don't want the boy's father to hear of this because he has a terrible temper. What can I do?

MOM

DEAR MOM: A boy who uses a BB gun to kill robins should have his gun confiscated, no matter who paid for it. If he saved his money and bought marijuana, would you let him smoke it because he bought it with his allowance?

Your definition of "love" baffles me. A mother who truly loves her son does not withhold punishment when he needs it. Better to let his ill-tempered father deal with him now than to cry useless tears later. You are raising a problem for society.

DEAR ABBY: I've been married to a lovable hot-headed Irishman for 16 years. He's slapped me around some, but he has his good points. Why should a wife throw out a perfectly good husband just because he belted her a few times? I wouldn't trade my guy for one of those sweet-talking chiselers who kills you with kisses and then chases around behind your back. True love never runs smooth. GERTIE

DEAR ABBY: A few days ago I found a piece of paper with a girl's name and phone number on it in my husband's wallet. When I questioned him about it, he said he got it from a bartender, but he hasn't called the girl and doesn't intend to. He says I should forget it. Is it possible to trust him after this? Should I believe him and forget it? I don't want anything to happen to our marriage.

MOTHER OF TWO

DEAR MOTHER: Since your husband told you frankly how he came by the name and number I think you can believe him and forget it. If he (1) didn't know how to get into his wallet, (2) claimed he was getting it for a friend, (3) said he'd been carrying it for years and forgot to throw it away... then, you'd have had something to worry about.

If you have a problem, write to Abigail Van Buren in care of this paper. She will be glad to answer your letter. For a personal reply, enclose a self-addressed envelope.

Career Women Meet

The third national convention of the International Association of Career Women opened at the Hotel Cornhusker Friday evening with Mrs. Imogene S. Cruitt of New Orleans, president, presiding.

"Fields of Tomorrow for Women," is the theme of the three-day meeting which will feature addresses by Dr. Mabel Lee, former faculty member of the University of Nebraska; the Rev. Rex H. Knowles, pastor for Presbyterian students at the university; and Mrs. Marie Hul-

NU Dorms Bursting At Seams

"No Vacancy" signs went up at all University of Nebraska women's residence halls Friday with registration deadlines still one week away.

A total of 697 women students are housed in the Women's Residence Halls and Terrace Hall on the downtown campus, and Fedde and Love Memorial Halls at Ag campus.

Registrants will now have to find approved housing in Lincoln, according to the Dean of Women, Miss Helen Snyder. Women freshmen students are normally required to reside on the campus.

The crowding at the 500-capacity Women's Residence Halls has necessitated conversion of parlors and utility rooms into living quarters, Miss Snyder said. At present 533 girls are living at the halls, although the number is expected to be decreased by withdrawals from school.

Selleck Quad, the men's dormitory on city campus, is also filled to capacity, and Burr Hall is nearly full, according to Van Westover, assistant dean of student affairs.

The Salutes Cornhuskers
of Nebraska

Just before the first kickoff of the local football season, we are awakened to the presence of a great University here in Lincoln. The Cornhuskers have brought us a measure of national prominence in sports, in both good years and bad, and they deserve our thanks for that. But Hovland-Swanson salutes the University of Nebraska for much more than its football and its fine stadium. The University, with its library, art galleries and museum, its theater, its new Kellogg Center (now being built), and its literary traditions give Lincoln an air of cultural attainment that many larger cities lack. And, of course, every autumn, when its thousands of students begin their school year, our city renews its youthful appearance and outlook. We're proud of the University of Nebraska and its students; they are among Lincoln's finest assets.

'Nebraska Interstate Highway Fund Hike Indicated'-Conrad

Washington (AP) — Some progress was reported Friday in Nebraska's bid for more money for work on its Interstate Highway system.

Robert B. Conrad, administrative assistant to Gov. Ralph Brooks, gave this report after meeting with Ellis Armstrong, commissioner of public roads:

"There is nothing definite, but there is substantial indication that Nebraska will receive more than $10,800,000.

He explained this is the figure being considered as the state's share of $1,800,000,000 available during the fiscal year which began July 1 for the Interstate program. He said the Bureau of Public Roads may have a definite

Omaha Problem

Conrad said the state feels additional funds are needed because of a right-of-way problem in the Omaha area. He said the $10,800,000 "would be inadequate to make much of a start."

The Omaha situation, he said, involves 1,400 parcels of land with an estimated cost of 19 million dollars.

"Armstrong recognized the Omaha situation as the most acute remaining right-of-way problem on the entire Interstate system," Conrad said.

Conrad, chairman of Governor Brooks' Traffic Safety Committee, also met with Francis C. Perkins, deputy director of President Eisenhower's Committee on Traffic Safety.

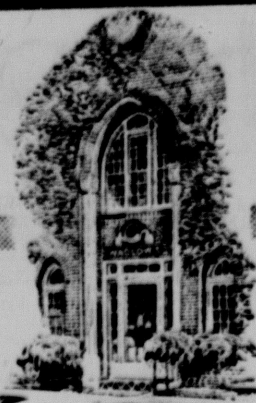

YWCA Secretary

New York (UPI) — Edith M. Lerrigo was named general secretary of the Young Women's Christian Association of the U.S.A. She formerly was director of the YWCA's college and university division.

Traffic Law Probe Centers On 3 Areas

By Betty Person

A three-pronged investigation of Nebraska's traffic safety laws was launched Friday by a Legislative Council study committee.

Under the chairmanship of Sen. Joe Vosoba of Wilber, the committee will direct its investigation into 3 fields of the subject:

1. A study of the adequacy and uniformity of present laws, rules and regulations governing roads and motor vehicle operators.

2. How law enforcement agencies such as the State Patrol, county sheriffs and city police are carrying out the laws.

3. How the courts are administering the traffic safety laws.

Sen. Vosoba said it was his hope that the committee could "cut out a lot of the obsolete statutes" which are "cluttering up" the traffic law picture, and "re-write and re-organize the laws so they will be so clear and concise that any man, woman or child can understand them."

Some of the areas of study in which the committee voiced particular interest are highway markings, possible establishment of a minimum speed law, broadening highway shoulders for farm equipment travel, passing lanes on steep grades, and enforcement of the law requiring a mandatory jail sentence for driving under a suspended license.

Vosoba said he had "no axes to grind and didn't want to embarrass anybody," but that he hoped the committee would be an "active" one because it has a "fertile field" in which to work.

The committee will hold hearings within the next few weeks with representatives of the State Patrol, county sheriffs, city police, the governor's traffic safety committee, the National Traffic Safety Council, and similar agencies or industries interested in highway safety.

Sen. Peter Claussen of Leigh was elected vice chairman of the committee whose other members are Sen. Arthur Swanson of Holdrege, Lewis Webb of Ogallala, Hal Bridenbaugh of Dakota City, Marvin Lautenschlager of Grand Island, and Sam Klaver of Omaha. Klaver was not present at the Friday meeting.

License Lost After Fluid Test Refusal .. Suspended One Year

The drivers license of Raymond D. Fisher, 22, of Fremont was suspended for one year Friday for refusing to submit to a test of body fluids after being arrested for drunken driving.

The license was suspended effective Friday by Alvin Scissors, state motor vehicles director, at a hearing in the Capitol.

Fisher was allowed to drive his car back to Fremont.

He was arrested Aug. 18 by Patrolmen D. W. Parker and Donald Ackerman of the Fremont Police Department, who testified at the hearing.

Scissors told Fisher he could appeal the decision in the District Court for Dodge County.

In another case, Scissors continued the hearing of Harold L. Kling, 52, of Lincoln, pending the results of a license re-examination.

Kling was arrested in Lincoln Aug. 21. Officers said he refused to submit to a test of urine or blood.

Steel Industry May Risk 'Distasteful' Legislation

San Francisco (AP) — Secretary of Labor James P. Mitchell said Friday the steel industry may risk distasteful legislation if it allows the steel dispute to drift unsettled.

Mitchell, both booed and cheered during a speech to the AFL-CIO convention, said President Eisenhower may have to obtain an 80-day injunction to stop the strike under the Taft-Hartley law emergency provisions if the 66-day walkout continues.

The labor secretary said the President will have no alternative if the nation runs out of steel.

Injunction 'No Help'

He said an injunction, limited by law to 80 days, would not help settle the basic labor dispute and the strike very likely would resume next winter.

"Let's assume the Taft-Hartley injunction is invoked," Mitchell said. "Let's assume, as I believe, that no agreement is reached during the 80 days. Let's assume there is another strike, which is a probability.

"In this respect I think the companies are very short sighted because when Congress reconvenes in January it will be a political Congress on the eve of a national convention and there will have to be, if the strike continues, some legislative action."

The AFL-CIO chiefs have been steadily lambasting Mitchell and President Eisenhower for supporting the labor control law and for refusing to intervene in the steel strike.

Walter Reuther, head of the auto workers union and a member of the welcoming committee that escorted Mitchell to the platform, said he had told Mitchell it had been a mistake to invite him and for Mitchell to have accepted.

He said government intervention in any labor dispute is wrong because a little intervention ultimately can lead to a lot of it and that could hurt management one time and labor another.

Steinman Heads 'Helping Hand'

Dr. John S. Steinman was appointed chairman of the Helping Hand Committee at the first fall meeting of the Lancaster County Mental Health Board at the YWCA.

The committee offers consultation to people with personal problems, giving them a chance to relieve their emotional stress before it becomes serious mental illness.

In other appointments, Mrs. Michael Boosalis was named to head the board's membership drive; Lester Jensen assumed the chairmanship of the education committee and Mrs. Herbert Hedke the chairmanship of the volunteer services committee.

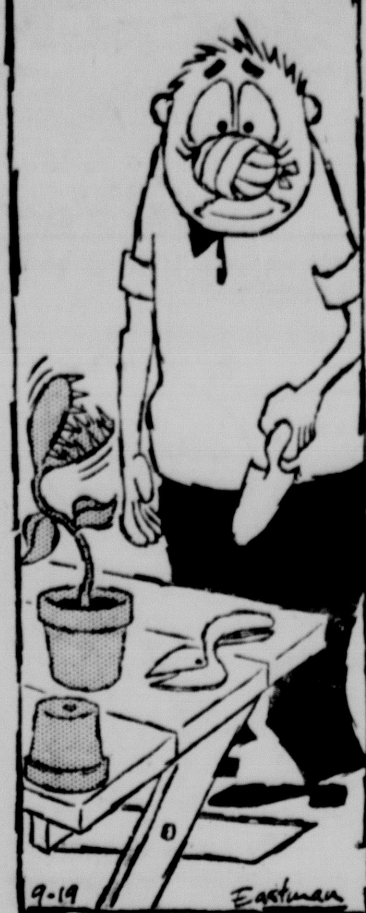

Special guests at the meeting were Mrs. D. T. Pruitt, mental health chairman of the BPO Does; Mrs. Richard C. Allgood, Jr., mental health chairman of the Lincoln Council PTA and Harold Hill, of the Lancaster County Red Cross.

Washington (UPI) — Speaker Sam Rayburn left for his home in Bonham, Tex. He does not plan to return to Washington until Congress reconvenes next January.

Mrs. Brooks and Mrs. Conrad will also attend, also Democratic party workers and the public have been invited to attend.

'You've Come To The Right Spot, Mr. Bible'

Omaha Central Speed Buries Links By 19-0

Only Statistic Edge To LHS

By Paul LeBar

Omaha Central's streamlined corps of sprinters handed Lincoln High a lesson in the basics of football at the Links' Oval Friday night, slapping down the hosts 19-0 on a muddy field.

Central, as statistics later proved, needed no awesome display of offense to make the Links holler, "Uncle."

The Eagles were content with a meager two first downs. They wound up with a net 46 yards on the ground plus 30 through the air.

But Coach Frank Smagacz's Omahans knew their business. Twice with Lincoln in possession of the pigskin they turned the tables for lightning-quick touchdowns.

Break Links' Back
The score breaking Lincoln's back came in the second quarter via Central's best offensive maneuver of the evening, a 30-yard pass play from sub half Ron Allen to Gale Sayers at the Link 3-yard line.

It took 3 thrusts to nudge through Lincoln defenders for the score that ushered the Eagles to a 13-0 bulge at intermission.

Lincoln lacked only the break-away play necessary to climb back into the issue.

The Links struggled through the entire second half but never moved closer than the Central 15.

Bugs were evident in the Lincoln offense, and the stubborn Centralites repeatedly made the big play that slammed the door.

were pired by an alert Eagle secondary that knew whence to travel when given the chance.

The Eagles' last interception heaped insult upon injury to the frustrated Links, Sayers speeding 58 yards with a Doug Osterholm aerial to score again as time ran out.

Lincoln looked like anything but a loser while probing soft spots in the Central interior during the first quarter.

Texans Late

The Texas squad, all hale and hearty and 40-men strong, was late in arriving because of the weather. They had to circle the Lincoln field for an hour while they were "talked" down through the overcast.

Prior to their arrival, a private DC-3, all decked out in Orange and White with a picture of a snortin' Longhorn on the tail, landed with a load of Texas boosters.

Second Game

Today's game will mark only the second meeting between Nebraska and Texas.

In 1933 the Huskers plastered Texas, 26-0, and it was D.X. Bible who skipped the Scarlets. Four years later he started a rebuilding job at Texas, bequeathing the NU spot to L. McC. (Biff) Jones.

Extra Point Club

The Extra Point Club will hold the final portion of the current fund drive at Memorial Stadium today.

Husker boosters will be selling the lapel buttons for $1. Proceeds all go to bolster the NU grant-in-aid fund.

With sub fullback Steve deBrown carrying the load, the Capital Citizens paraded into Central territory after the kickoff but were stopped abruptly when big Roosevelt Mason knifed through and smeared Howard Strain on 4th down near midfield.

End James Dickerson kept the pressure on the invaders moments later when he boomed through the line to block Eagle Ken Allen's punt at the Central 45-yard line.

But Lincoln couldn't cash in. deBrown's punt then rolled dead at the Central two-yard stripe, but Ron Allen got the Omahans out of that jam by returning a kick for 46 yards back into the Links' territory.

Central showed its first sign of a move at the outset of the second period when junior Charles Gunn—138 pounds of flashing cleats—zipped 16 yards for the Eagles' initial first down.

Do Nothing Right

Moments later it was the same Gunn who took a hand-off from Sayers on a Lincoln High punt, threaded his way through Link tacklers to the 30, gained a clear field at midfield and streaked unmolested into the end zone.

Revenge-bent Lincoln could do nothing right. Ken Allen of the Eagles grabbed Gregg Ortiz' pass and returned it to the Link 38.

Vernon Breakfield hammered for 5 yards, then unheralded Ron Allen—another of Smagacz' talented juniors—rifled a long leg to Sayers at the Link 3.

As it turned out, it was the play that probably made the difference.

Central: TD, Charles Gunn (88, punt return); Vernon Breakfield (1, plunge); Gale Sayers (58, pass interception); PAT: Sayers (plunge).

Revived Rockets Stun Fremonters

...Peet, Lebsack Pace 25-0 Rout

Lincoln Star Special

Fremont, Neb. — Underdog Lincoln Northeast showed across 4 first-half touchdowns here Friday night to stun Fremont 25-0 and end the Rockets losing streak at 9.

Coach Art Bauer's aroused charges — whipped 13-0 in the season opener against Lincoln Southeast the week before — scored once in the opening period and thrice in the second 12 minutes to hand the hosts their first loss of the campaign.

Peet Dashes 16

Northeast's attack, suddenly alive and dangerous, featured the running of senior halfback Ron Peet and the passing of sophomore quarterback Dave Lebsack.

Peet signalled things to come in the opening quarter when he capped a 66-yard Rocket drive to paydirt with a 16-yard sprint into the end zone.

Lebsack, who started the season in the role of a substitute, engineered Northeast's second drive, a 62-yard march with Peet getting the touchdown on a pass from 32 yards out.

Fumble Aids Cause

Fremont promptly aided the Lincoln cause, fumbling at the Tiger 35-yard line.

On the first play the classy Lebsack spotted end Leslie Smith in the corner for another scoring strike that upped the margin to 19-0.

The invaders marched 51 yards late in the quarter to score again, this time Peet adding his 3rd touchdown from 19 yards out.

Northeast's margin was convincing. The Rockets owned an 18-7 bulge in first downs and outrushed the hosts 253-60.

Gordon Resigns Cleveland Post

Kansas City P.—Joe Gordon quit as manager of the second place Cleveland Indians Friday, culminating a feud with general manager Frank Lane that had become public and bitter in recent days.

There was immediate speculation that Gordon's successor would be Leo Durocher, who said earlier he would quit his $65,000 job with the National Broadcasting Co. at the end of the year.

There also was speculation Gordon would manage the Detroit Tigers next year, succeeding Jimmy Dykes.

Gordon said "I don't have any idea" when asked if he would go to Detroit. He said whether he continued to manage the Cleveland club in its remaining 8 games was up to Lane. The Indians were here to open a 3-game series with the Kansas City Athletics.

In a statement, Gordon said it was obvious that cooperation between him and

Joe Gordon Quits Post With Indians

he preferred 4 or 5 men over Gordon to manage the club next year.

"If I can get one of them I will," Lane said.

To one of Lane's published criticisms of him, Gordon said:

"If he wants to run the team on the field, he should sit close enough so he can signal."

Several times he had complained publicly of Lane's "second guessing" his judgment.

Gordon, 44, became manager at Cleveland in June 1958 when Lane fired Bobby Bragan. Cleveland finished in 4th place and this year led the league a large part of the season before losing 4 straight to the Chicago White Sox, then sagged into the second spot. They now trail the Sox by 5½ games. Chicago has 7 to play and the Indians 8.

The near collapse of the Indians was a severe blow to Lane and he made no secret of his belief that Gordon's mismanagement had been to blame for the loss of several games in recent weeks.

Lane was not immediately available for comment on Gordon's resignation. He was enroute from Pittsburgh to Cleveland.

Gordon's statement said:

"After considerable thought

I have decided to announce I would not return to Cleveland as manager next year under any circumstances.

"The situation has reached a point where it is obvious harmony can't be achieved between Mr. Lane and myself. It is my belief there must be complete cooperation between a manager and general manager in order successfully to operate a ball club and the fans in Cleveland have demonstrated they deserve that type of operation."

"I have enjoyed being in Cleveland and wish to express my appreciation to the fans for their consideration and loyalty."

Cubs Score In 13th To Edge Phils, 5-4

Chicago (AP) — The Chicago Cubs blended a 13th inning walk with George Anderson's error and Irv Noren's single and defeated the Philadelphia Phillies 5-4 Friday.

A paid crowd of 971 saw Tony Taylor draw the leadoff walk in the 13th inning before Anderson muffed what looked like a double play grounder off the bat of George Altman. Then Noren singled to right giving outfielder-turned-pitcher Bob Bowman his first loss. Dave Hillman, 4th Chicago pitcher, picked up his 7th win. He has lost 11.

State League Drops 5,171 In Attendance

Lincoln Star Special

Kearney, Neb.—Attendance for the 6-team Nebraska State League suffered a drop of more than 5,000 fans during the 1959 campaign, League Secretary E. W. Quitmeyer reported Friday.

Figures were based on the operation of 6 teams minus 1958 members Lexington and Superior and compared 133,306 for the season just passed to 138,477 in 1958.

League members of the Class D rookie loop are McCook, Holdrege, Grand Island, Kearney, Hastings and North Platte.

Third-place Grand Island led the league in overall attendance with a 25,864 mark for 31 home games. Pennant winner McCook was runnerup with 24,726.

The statistics are based on the total season physical attendance plus unused season coupon tickets. McCook's 20,270 in actual attendance paced the league.

Milton with Coach Skip Finch... the topic is football.

Friend's Bob Milton, Polio Case In 1952, Now Prep Football Star

By Gene Budig

Friend, Neb. — Young Bob Milton is one fellow who doesn't take much stock in odds.

When Bob was left completely paralyzed by polio in September of 1952, physicians saw little chance for recovery. Several didn't even expect him to survive the attack.

But today, the 15-year-old is one of Friend High School's leading football players.

Last Friday when Friend rolled over Fairmont, 34-0, Bob was cited as one of the game's leading defensive standouts by his coach, "Skip" Finch.

'Best Little Man'

"Why, he's the best little man on the squad," Finch said, "pound for pound, you can't beat him. The high school sophomore, who lettered last year, is only 5-6 and weighs 137 pounds.

K's Aim: Convince U.S. He's Not Such An Ogre

By Relman Morin

New York (AP)—With a pixie grin, wagging his fat finger, Cracking homespun jokes and pleading sweet reason, Nikita Khrushchev is driving hard for a major objective of his American tour.

This is to persuade Americans that he is not the monster they pictured.

He is endeavoring to build up a wholly different image, the image of a sensible, practical, down-to-earth man who wants to be friendly. To this task, he brings the force of a towering personality and a shrewd eye for effects.

It is a selling job, and Khrushchev is an effective salesman. Note some of the techniques—

He describes his government as a "corporation," and himself as a corporation executive, one of the most familiar figures on the American scene. You can reason with an executive.

Knowing the implications of the word, "Communist," he says, with engaging candor, "Well, here I am. I wanted you to see a Communist in human form without horns or tail."

Then the quip. "Anyway, if I had horns, I don't have any hair to conceal them."

Boldly, he discusses the two systems, capitalism and Communism. But he doesn't try to deprecate the former or sell the latter. On the contrary, with the appearance of immense common sense, he says, "You believe in your system and I wouldn't waste my energy trying to convert you to ours."

Americans may believe this is exactly what the Kremlin has been trying to do since World War II. Khrushchev, quietly, or with the tolerant smile, tells them they are mistaken.

Big Switch
He pulls a big switch, a sharp departure from an orthodox line—praising President Eisenhower as a great military leader “in our common struggle” during World War II, and acknowledging the importance of American military aid.

For years, lesser Russians than Khrushchev have insisted, to the immense anger of Americans, that the Red army and its leaders won the war, single-handed.

He visits hallowed American shrines, bowing low before the statue of Abraham Lincoln, and driving from New York to Hyde Park to lay a wreath on the grave of Franklin D. Roosevelt.

Yes, he says, it is true he used the phrase "We will bury you." But then his expression changes swiftly, to a bitter scowl, and he says that was distorted "and on purpose" by the people who quoted

STOCKS DECLINE

New York (AP) — The stock market continued its dismal downward path Friday. It took a moderately severe decline, cutting some of its worst losses in late trading. Volume rose to 2,530,000 shares from 2,090,000 Thursday. Turnover was boosted by a kind of temporary selling climax in late morning when the ticker tape ran late for an 11-minute spell. Prices began to firm even before the tape caught up with transactions.

The S&P 500 index was boosted by two big blocks, one 400,000 share transaction in Western Auto Supply and one 200,000 share block in International Corp. These were deals between broker-dealers. Wall Street sources said it was a general decline most of the day. By the close, however, most of the automotive stocks were up and the market was mixed for air and electronics.

Losses included most leading steel, rubber, copper, tin, zinc, and aluminum equities and building materials. The Dow Jones industrial average fell 2 1/2 points to 1,000.00.

The Associated Press average of 60 stocks fell 1.00 to 127.40 with industrial down 1.25, rail down 60 cents to a low for the year and utilities down 70 cents. Of 1,261 issues traded, 277 advanced, 771 declined. There were 179 new lows for the year and two new highs, Black & Decker and the Wall average. Based on the fall in the AP average, the quoted value of stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange last an estimated $1,500,000,000.

American Stock Exchange prices were mostly lower on volume of 1,600,000. Corporate bonds were mixed in a narrow active trading.

U.S. government bonds edged higher for the third straight day. Trading mounted to $6,000,000 par value on the New York Stock Exchange from $5,800,000 Thursday.

Teenage 'Glue Sucking' Fad Is Deadly

By Del Harding

A new teenage fad of "glue sucking" which resulted in a youth being charged in County Court Friday has brought a stern warning from authorities that illness and even death could result from prolonged use of the glue as a stimulant.

Barry L. Failor, 18, of 2785 Summer, pleaded guilty to a disturbing the peace charge before Acting County Judge Ralph Slocum.

Dep. Co. Atty. Paul Douglas told the court that police had arrested Failor at a dance Thursday night at the Antelope Pavilion. The officers reported his eyes were blood-shot and dilated and he appeared intoxicated.

Upon questioning, Failor told police that "glue sucking" had brought on his condition.

He said he had purchased a 10c tube of airplane glue, squeezed it into a handkerchief and then put the glue-filled handkerchief into his mouth and slowly inhaled and swallowed the "glue juice."

Douglas told the court that chemical tests showed Failor's urine contained .15 of one per cent alcohol, or enough to result in a drunken driving conviction had he been operating a car.

Analyzed

Douglas said tubes of the glue had been sent to the State Health Dept. for analysis after earlier reports of "glue sucking."

Douglas said health authorities reported continued glue sucking could result in blindness, paralysis and even death. He said he did not know what ingredients in the glue are dangerous, but Judge Slocum said he understood it contained wood alcohol.

Failor told police he had been using the glue about a year, and estimated he had sucked about 30 to 40 tubes in that time. He said he understood a youth who returned from the Kearney Boys Training School had introduced the fad to Lincoln boys.

Police Lt. Gail Gade, also in court, said he understood the fad had been going on in Lincoln for about a year. He said he understands that only a small number of boys — probably about 12 have been involved.

Judge Slocum, at the request of the boy's parents who were in court, placed young Failor on 3-month probation on the disturbing the peace charge.

200 NEBRASKA LAWYERS BACK IN THE CLASSROOM

Approximately 200 Nebraska lawyers were back in the classroom at the University of Nebraska Friday, many for the first time in 10 years, as part of a two-day institute on Nebraska probate practice.

Chancellor Clifford M. Hardin in his welcome to the class set the tone for the upcoming sessions when he addressed the participants as "students for a day."

The Chancellor also took note that the institute provided the lawyers a chance to mix business with pleasure when he remarked it was probably more than a coincidence that the institute was being held on a football weekend.

Many of the "students" planned to attend the Nebraska-Texas football game Saturday afternoon after the institute adjourns at noon.

Homecoming for Many

For many attorneys it was a homecoming in that it was the first time they had returned to the University's College of Law since graduation.

Some of the lawyers showed some hesitancy about finding seats in the classroom when the ten o'clock bell rang signifying the starting time.

The hour found many still in the coffee room with a cup in one hand and a doughnut in the other, but a little urging by Prof. David Dow brought the tardy attorneys to their places and most were ready with notebook and pencil for the opening lecture by Daniel Stubbs of Alliance.

A panel discussion by Judge Herbert A. Ronin of Lancaster County Court, Judge Robert R. Troyer of Douglas County Court and Frank J. Mattoon of Sidney was held during the afternoon session.

The institute is sponsored by the University's College of Law in conjunction with the junior bar section of the Nebraska Bar Association.
